DETAILED ACTION

Specification

- Claims 11-12 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from another multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 11-12 have not been further treated on the merits.
- Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.
- The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

- The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.
- The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. In this regard, Examiner suggests replacing the present title with, "methods for applying color measurement by means of an electronic imaging device".
- The claims and the specification are objected to minor informalities, wherein, in all instances, please replace, "color", in the place of, "colour".

Allowable Subject Matter

- Claims 1-10 and 13 are allowed.
- The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The present invention is directed towards a method of determining a texture and/or color formula for matching a selected color and/or texture of a selected material. Independent claims 1 and 13 identify the uniquely distinct feature “ for using a mathematical model, parameters are calculated for converting the measured color signals of the calibration colors to the known colorimetric data and using the mathematical model and the calculated parameters, the color signals of the measured selected color are converted to colorimetric data”. Independent claim 10 identifies the uniquely distinct feature “ for wherein the measured color and texture data are used to determine, in a databank, the texture and/or color formula of which the colorimetric data and the texture data most closely match those of the selected material”. The closest prior art, Yamamoto et al. (US 6,556,210 B1) and Wyman et al. (US 4,813,000) disclose wherein the texture image, L*a*b* space parameters of each tile area and each texture image are compared and a texture image having the closest space parameter is selected as the image for the corresponding tile area, and a mosaic image is generated as well as wherein stored chromaticity data is coupled to a computer which compares it with stored chromaticity data in the computer representing available color formulas and then selects one of the stored paint formulas most closely matching the chromaticity data representing the selected color, either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitation obvious.

Other prior art cited

- The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Ozbey et al. (US 6,186,403 B1) is pertinent as teaching method and apparatus for accurate color reading of material having variable depth and motif.

Ingalls et al. (US 4,522,491) is pertinent as teaching method for reproducing one or more target colors on photographic paper or the like.

Kritchman (US 6,519,038 B1) is pertinent as teaching process for dying material to match a predetermined color.

Takagi (US 5,590,251) is pertinent as teaching color reproducing device for reproducing matched colors and an outputting device for outputting information for reproducing a color of a coated surface.

Maring et al. (US 4,812,904) is pertinent as teaching optical color analysis process.
